A large number of the friends of the dancing formed the chief amusements of the evening.

The last meeting of the debating club was held on Tuesday evening. James Scott read a paper on Denmark-Government by a commonwealth of Farmers.
The paper was very interesting and was followed by discussion. The club has filled a felt-want in the life of the town in the last three months. A number of very interesting and profitable meetings have been held. We hope that the next session will do even better.

It is very remarkable that wedding ceremonies and festivities are continually decreasing by reason of ease and similar instruments, whose melodies do not harmonize and whose vibrations are as coarse as the practice.
Conversation is made impossible at the guest table and renders the most speeches inaudible. It is time this disgraceful practice is abolished and citizens look to our authorities for protection from annoyance and disturbance on such occasions.

A SPLENDID PLATINUM DISCOVERY

Lead and Seams Within One and a Half Miles of Coleman

SEAMS ARE BEING EXPOSED AND SHAFT SUNK

For some time, mining men and prospectors have been seeking to unearth a platinum vein which has been showing every evidence of being in existence for some years. The lead was found just south of Whinstry's ranch and about one mile south of the C.P.R.
Samples of the ore and quartz have been sent to Colorado and the returns show that the percentage of platinum gold and silver will average high. A shaft at present is being sunk and a number of men are engaged in opening up and developing the property.

A syndicate has been formed, composed of T. D. Bures, T. D. Rosch, G.
Bradley and others. As soon as the vein is well defined and satisfactory returns again made, a cyanide plant will be installed. The Silver Creek syndicate also intend to put their townsite on the market next spring and construct a siding to the mine.

STRIKE STILL EXISTS AT FRANK

Situation is Gloomy Pending the Appointment of an Arbitration Committee

The miners of Frank are still out and the most pessimistic views of the situation are held by the union officials and business men of Frank as every day the breach seems to be widening.
Mr. Muller, the general manager, has given out the following statement which the Miner deems best to publish in full.

"On February 1st, a contract was signed with the men working at the shaft for a period of two years. Said contract to be called off at the end of one year in case either party wants it.
This refers to the shaft which is an open shop and has always been considered so. The last agreement with the United Mine Workers of America stipulates that the shaft is not under their jurisdiction.

On March 31st the agreement with the old mine expired and the company asked to fix a new agreement after having given notice sixty days in advance to that effect. The negotiations were not successful. The company offered a reduction of 5 cents in the pillars, the open shop; the same as prevails in the other coal camps in the area occupied by the Western Coal Operators. The Company also wants the Union to respect the contract signed at the shaft. The Union refuses to agree and the miners started to strike, without advice and in violation to the Lemieux Act.

A committee has since met Mr. Muller and he has put forth the following:

First; The Company asks that the reduction of 5 cents in pillar price be submitted to a board of arbitration and pending the verdict of the board of arbitration the same price of 50 cents for work in the pillars be maintained.

Second; The Company stands on the open shop principle, the same as the other companies adjacent to Frank.

Third; The Company wants the Union to respect the agreement signed at the shaft.

Football Fixtures are Arranged

A well attended meeting of delegates of Crow's Nest, Pass Association Football league took place last Saturday in the Frank Hotel at Frank Alberta.

Mr. Turnbull of Frank was elected to the chair.

The following delegates were in attendance:

Mr. Lindsay of Bellevue, Alta.
Mr. Turnbull Frank, Alta.
Mr. Stevenson of Coleman.
Mr. Balderson of Hosmer B. C.
Mr. Hughes of Coal Creek.
Mr. Mitchell of Fernie.
Mr. Moore of Michel.

Mr. Sharpe acted as the secretary pro tem.

It was regularly moved and seconded that Thomas Graham be the president—carried.

Vice-President: Mr. J. Shanks, of Coal Creek.
Mr. A. Manly, of Coleman.
Mr. J. Emmerson of Frank.
Mr. Thomas Sparrow of Michel.
It was then decided that Mr. James Sharpe act as chairman for the season and Mr. Lindsay of Bellevue be Sec.
Treas.

Motion was put and passed that the entrance fee for the league be $20 and $10 entrance fee for the cup ties.

It is unanimously decided that there should be a strict enforcement of the English rules, both as regards players and referees. The remuneration of referees was fixed at $4 per diem and expenses. All players must be registered 7 days from day of postage.

Any team failing to fulfill engagements shall be fined $10, forfeit points also, and that they shall be debarred from playing any more games until the sum imposed has been paid unless they furnish good and sufficient excuse for exoneration.

That expenses be paid for 14 visiting players at the hotels.

Referees to send reports to secretary of games as soon after they are played as possible.

The following were selected as a committee to investigate infringements of rules: Mr. Graham of Coleman, Mr.
Mitchell of Fernie; Mr. Sharpe of Michel, meeting place of this committee to be at Michel.

The games for the Fernie team are as follows:

May 2; Coal Creek at Fernie.
May 14; Hosmer at Fernie.
May 21; Coal Creek at Coal Creek.
May 28; Coleman at Coleman.
June 4; Bellevue at Bellevue.
June 25; Michel at Fernie.
July 10; Hosmer at Hosmer.
July 23; Michel at Michel.
August 20; Frank at Frank.
August 27; Bellevue at Fernie.
Sept. 17; Frank at Fernie.
Sept. 24; Coleman at Fernie.

BIG BOXING CONTEST

Articles have already been signed for a fifteen round contest between Jim Burrows and Charlie Robinson to take place in the Coleman Opera House on the 18th of April. Both men are training and are getting into the best of condition for the big bout which will no doubt be the best ever pulled off in Coleman. There will be several good preliminaries pulled off also. One will be a wrestling match in which Kennedy agrees to throw Gould in twenty minutes.
Another one will be a six round boxing contest between Spokane Kid and Young Letcher of Hillcrest.

THE SITUATION AT FRANK

Firstly; That the men shall concede a reduction of 5c. per ton for mining in the pillars.

Secondly; That a clause be inserted in the agreement to the effect that the United Mine Workers of America shall waive all jurisdiction over the men who are working in or around the shaft.

Thirdly; That the miners relinquish the closed shop understanding which has heretofore existed under the agreement expiring to-day.

To comply with such arbitrary rules simply place the miners' organization in the position of an absolutely useless medium for dealing with matters affecting the interests of all workers in the coal mining industry, and must necessarily characterize those making such unqualifiedly absurd propositions of stifling entirely in appreciate the fact that they are not dealing with men who approaching these affairs either in a spirit of "don't give a hang," or a ready acquiescence to any offers that the company may see fit to propose, but with a determination to retain all that they are now getting, and if possible to get some changes to which they consider themselves justly entitled.

The men have therefore (and we feel that every fair minded person will coincide with their action) decided to refrain from further work until an agreement is signed, and whilst we go to press a mass meeting is being held at Frank, at which participally all the miners of Bellevue, Hillcrest, Lillo, Blainville, Pass-burg and a goodly portion from Coleman are in attendance to discuss the situation and formulate plans for the future. "Ferne Ledger."

A PRETTY WEDDING

The Institutional church was very tastefully decorated on Wednesday afternoon, was the scene of a pretty wedding. Miss Jeanne Robertson daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Robertson formerly of Blainville but now of Calgary, was married to Mr. Wilfrid Wolstenholme of Blainville. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. M. Murray, pastor of the church.

The bride entered the church on the arm of Mr. Clegg and was also supported by her mother and Miss M. Gate as bridesmaid. Mr. W. Wolstenholme was accompanied by his brother J.
Wolstenholme of Blainville.

The church was crowded by the many friends of the bride and groom. After the ceremony the guests adjourned to the large bearing house of Miss Holmes where an elaborate supper was prepared and served. A splendid list had been arranged all the tenor of the speeches bore out the great unity of the young couple.

CORRESPONDENCE

To the editor of the Coleman Miner

Dear Sir,

In regard to incorporation the public might as well know that there is no hope for it, as the council has left it to the opposition party, and by using common sense the council must know that the opposition party, which is the Coal Co. will not do anything towards it. The council seems to take more interest in Flanagan Park, which is in no way a benefit to the public, seeing that the village is in impoverished state. We have no water system and I think the council should use more sense than sports.

LIEUT. ROLETTE'S FEAT

YOUNG OFFICER ONE OF THE HEROES OF WAR OF 1812.

Commander of the Detroit, which Carried Prisoners and Plunder From the Fall of Detroit, Gallantly Defended His Vessel Against Big Odds—Was Born in Quebec and Had a Strenuous Career With Nelson.

On the morning of Oct. 8, 1812, two sails flying the British colors—H. M. Brig Detroit (late the U. S. Brig Adams, surrendered at Detroit) and the private brig Caledonia—came down the lake from Amherstburg and anchored off Fort Erie. The Detroit, Lieut. Rolette in command, mounted six 24-pounder long guns, and was manned by three officers and eight marines, besides two officers and seven privates. The Royal Newfoundland Fencibles, who also had on board about thirty U. S. prisoners of war, including three officers, and a number of French-Canadian voyageurs. Her cargo consisted of five 12-pounder cannon, a large quantity of shot, several hundred muskets and other munitions of war—all taken from the Americans at the surrender of Detroit.

The Caledonia, a merchant brig, under Captain Irvine, carried two small guns and was heavily laden with furs and other goods. She had a crew of twelve men, including officers, and a few American prisoners on board.

The following night was dark and foggy, with no wind. An armed watch was set on deck of the Detroit and the commander retired at 12 o'clock. At 3 o'clock in the morning (of the 9th) one of the watch saw a boat creeping up near the Caledonia, which lay inshore of the Detroit, and ran down to warn Rolette, who, with Ensign Kerr, an officer of the Fencibles, rushed on deck to find his vessel had been cut adrift and two boats alongside with several naval officers and a hundred American seamen, while another boat came in sight with two officers and about thirty soldiers of the U. S. army. The Americans demanded the vessel's surrender, which was promptly refused by Rolette, and the U. S. soldiers immediately opened fire with musketry fire, and the seamen, armed with cutlasses and pistols, boarded the Detroit, several going aloft in the rigging to loosen the sails. The British made a desperate resistance. The surprise, however, was so complete that not a gun could be brought to bear on the enemy's boats. Two U. S. officers grappled with Rolette, one firing a pistol at him, and the American men, by overpowering numbers, drove the crew before them with the bare steel, slaying several and wounding others down the hatchways. At the end of fifteen minutes half of the British were killed and wounded and the rest driven below. The vessel was then taken without further opposition, and drifted slowly down the river.

In the morning the British frigate of the Caledonia was aroused by the confusion on board the Detroit. He hastily armed himself, calling on his men, ran to the gangway to defend his ship. He discharged two blunderbusses in succession into the enemy's advancing boat, which was leaving the captured Detroit to board the Caledonia—killing and wounding no less than seven of his assailants. When he was told by a cutlass stroke from one of the enemy who had boarded his rig on the opposite side, the Caledonia made a gallant and desperate resistance, fifteen of the enemy's men being killed and wounded before she was captured. Her cable was also cut and both vessels were then directed towards the American shore.

At this moment the heavy guns of Fort Erie opened a tremendous fire of round, grape and canister shot on the Americans, causing great confusion and loss on the ships. Timbers were splintered, sails torn to shreds, and the rigging of the Detroit was brought all the guns on the Detroit to the side next the British and directed a vigorous fire for a time, but, owing to the withering storm of shot and shell from the British batteries, she became unmanageable and drifted aimlessly with the current. The Americans were soon compelled to abandon both vessels, taking all on board of in their boats. The Detroit shortly afterwards was found on the west side of Squaw Island, a little below Black Rock. A party of forty soldiers of the British Regulars put out in a boat and boarded her, but, finding the anchor gone and the vessel generally disabled, they threw her guns overboard under a smart fire from musketry on the island and artillery on the enemy's shore, and decided to quit her.

The Caledonia grounded near Black Rock. Later in the day the Americans landed her cargo, with some loss of life, however, from British cannon balls. Her captain was afterwards promoted for his gallant conduct to a lieutenant in the provincial navy. At daybreak the batteries on both sides of the river again opened fire, and were warmly engaged all day. The first shot from the British batteries struck Major Cuyler, who was riding on the beach opposite, and went through his body. He fell from his horse instantly, over his horse's head. The cannon balls followed, causing further loss of life and property along the United States shore. Three times during the day the Detroit charged owners.

Gen. Sir Isaac Brock, on hearing of the attack, sent his horse galloping up from Fort George, arriving late in the afternoon, and immediately took command of the British forces. He at once gave orders to recapture the Detroit with ropes and tackle, assisted by the crew of the Lady Prescott, which had anchored some time before, and had every prospect of accomplishing his end, but before all arrangements could be made the enemy again boarded her. In a few minutes she was seen in flames, and soon after blew up.

The commander of the Detroit, who was taken prisoner was exchanged by Gen. Van Rensselaer a short time after, and at once renewed his aggressive operations against the enemy. Perhaps no native-born Canadian has had such a remarkable naval career, or displayed such gallantry and fearlessness in naval battles. Born in Quebec in 1783, Frederic Rolette at an early age went on board a man-of-war and enlisted in the British navy. He was present in the battle of the Nile, where he received five wounds, and later on took part in the glorious battle of Trafalgar, where England's mightiest seaman, Admiral Lord Nelson, was killed, after having gained a decisive victory over the combined French and Spanish fleets. After seven years of service on the ocean, Rolette returned home and was appointed a second lieutenant in the provincial marine. He was promoted to first lieutenant, and to command the brig Hunter, cruising on Lake Erie. The American war began soon after, and afforded him an opportunity of exerting his courage and military experience in the defence of his country. On July 3, 1812, he was taken prisoner, and by an act of astonishing daring, with only six men in a rowing boat, he escaped from the hands of the British, and on board five of his comrades and thirty-three soldiers, besides his own boat, he landed at Amherstburg, where he was reunited with stores for Gen. Hull's army.

This brave Canadian officer took part in many engagements, and died in Quebec in 1831, of the after-effects of his many wounds. Few men during that stirring period of our country's history have left such a brilliant record as the little-known French-Canadian whose patriotic deeds were recorded in the annals of this land of heroic deeds.

MYSTERY OF A DIAMOND RING.

How It Was Discovered In A Most Curious Way.

A prominent Toronto firm of silversmiths and jewellers was recently relieved of an atmosphere of gloom and depression and unhappiness in a most curious way. One day while another discovery was made that a valuable diamond ring with a stone not extremely large but of the best quality was missing. Every man in the firm's employ who could have access to the ring has been long with the house and was up to the minute thoroughly trusted. The examination of every one revealed the complete ignorance as to when and how the ring had disappeared. Yet the fact remained that it was gone, and everything seemed to bar the way to its recovery. The investigation in the institution had taken it and was concealing the fact. There seemed to be nobody in the store who would be foolish enough to attempt to perpetrate a theft so easily discovered except a porter that had been with the firm for years. His honesty had never up till then been doubted, and it was only with the greatest reluctance that the members of the firm decided to watch him. They were also keeping a watchful eye on the staff, but everyone in the firm's employ behaved in the most exemplary manner. For some time the suspicion that everyone in the institution was severely and generally under suspicion until some solution of the mystery was reached was responsible for making every man "mind his p's and q's." The atmosphere of the shop was certainly not pleasant for anyone to live in. Now everything is happy, however.

From inside the city mouse traps and rat traps are nightly set in the basement. The other morning the porter came running up from the cellar in a high state of excitement, and called the whole staff to come and see something curious. In one of the mouse traps was a fat and sleek little mauler and round its middle was the missing diamond ring! It was obvious that in scampering through a case, probably in daylight, the mouse had sprung on the heavier side of the ring and there the stone was set and the hoop had sprung up over its head. The animal had succeeded in working its way half through it and there the ring had stuck. It had spent some weeks in moonland wearing its adornment, and fortunately was caught in the same shop. Had it been possible the members of the firm with the currently suspected beast's life, for it had recovered something better than the diamond ring—a feeling of security and confidence.

Ice In His Muzzle.

A dog wandered into the Toronto City Hall the other day, and, like all citizens with a grievance, found his way to the Press Room. Something was bothering doggie, that was apparent. He was muzzling that was bother enough in the first place, but there was something else troubling him. He kept twisting his head about and moving it from side to side. Apparently his muzzle was hurting him, but it appeared to be a good fit.

After a close examination of the dog, the muzzling seemed no defect that could hurt the dog more than necessary. One of those present removed the muzzle, and the cause of the animal's worry was discovered. Just above the dog's nose an icicle had formed. The icicle was removed by the muzzling attendant. Doggie was all right then, and he trotted about wagging his tail vigorously to show his appreciation.

Great Building Year.

Of the nineteen cities reporting to Construction, the organ of the building trade, for January, the average gain for the month was 94 per cent, only two places showing a falling off. New York, with 560 per cent, had the greatest gain. Toronto's increase was 70 per cent, and Vancouver's 72 per cent. Regina was in second place with a gain of 710. Some of the figures of the Ontario cities were: Ottawa, 141 per cent; Peterborough, 510; London, 156; Fort William, 16.

The paper predicts that the year will be the greatest in the building history so far a building operation was concerned.

THE SNOWSHOE.

The landscape is kiss'd by the soft falling mist;
So gentle its touch on my hair,
It seems but the ghost of a rain that is lost,
Striving to tell me 'tis there.

The wind blowing west beats on my breast
In playful resistance the while.
My shoulders I brace, and prepare for a race
With the wind and the mist to beguile.

My snowshoes I don, in a moment I'm gone,
Town and turmoil I'm leaving behind.
My pulses beat free, this is living to me—
To all else but Nature I'm blind.

Across country I go, o'er the deep drifting snow;
The fences alone that remind me
That I'm not on wings; my very blood sings,
Out here vexing care cannot find me.

My spirit so high when my snowshoes and I Try a race with the wind and the weather;
My soul drinks delight from each woodland night,
My heart is as light as a feather.

In the soft snow I see where the pert chickadee
Was thieving from grasses uncovered;
And poor bunny's trail, as he sat on his tail,
To see if his haunt is discovered.

The little field-mouse, in her snow-covered house, Quivers with fright till I've passed her by.
The partridges whirr as the bushes I stir Going by, and on, faster and faster.

I race, till I come to the quiet farm

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Mrs. Lidia Lipkova, the Russian prima donna, has joined the National Progressive Woman Suffrage union in New York.

Mrs. Franklin, otherwise "Frank Danz," has adjured novel writing and is at work upon a biography and catalogue of the life of Emma, Lady Hamilton.

Mme. Curie of Paris, who, with her husband, discovered radium, was elected an honorary associate member of the American Chemical society at its recent meeting in Boston.

Miss Elizabeth Moore, a Vassar graduate, has entered the agricultural department of the University of Missouri, at Columbia, and has announced her intention of becoming an expert farmer. She is a member of several clubs in St. Louis.

Mrs. Jane Morris of Sand Gap, Jackson county, Ky., is eighty-one years old and has had a total of 280 descendants, of whom 48 are living and of whom 43 are great-great-grandchildren. As she is still vigorous and some of her descendants in the fifth generation are approaching maturity, she may see descendants in the sixth generation.

Miss Pearl A. Billings is said to be the youngest hotel woman in Chicago, perhaps in this country. Several years ago she inherited from a cousin the estate, furnishings and good will of the Newberry hotel. By good management Miss Billings has made it a success without a bar, a thing which the hotel men of Chicago told her would be impossible.

M.P.'S FROM THE COLONIES.

A Great Many Britons From Overseas Are In The English Commons.

It seems, at the time of writing, as if the British Parliament will have as liberal a strain as its predecessor of the Colonial blood which has enriched it of late century.

As long ago as 1837 there were six Colonial members in the House of Commons. In 1877 and 1887 the number had grown to eight; and when Mr. Balfour resigned four years ago, there were no fewer than sixteen Colonial members in the House, while the last Parliament boasted fifteen.

And the Colonies have good reason to be proud of the sons they have sent to help to make English laws. There have been few finer lawyers and politicians than Lord Abinger and Lyndhurst, both of whom sat in the Commons as attorney-general, and in the Lords, and won laurels by their eloquence and sound statesmanship.

Abinger came from Jamaica, and Lyndhurst was cradled in Boston before the Declaration of Independence.

Roebuck, a famous politician of the middle of last century, came from Canada, and was sent many of his ablest sons. Children spent seven of his best years in Australia before he took his seat for Portland on his way to the Cabinet; and Robert Lowe (Lord Sherbrooke) was a leading politician in New South Wales long before he sought the suffrages of Kidderminster in 1892.

The western pioneers from the Colonies. They have had many worthy successors. Mr. John Henry Foster, father of Imperial penny post, who has done yeoman service at Westminster for a quarter of a century, hails from Australia, where he was for many years a man of wealth and leading. The Hon. Edward Blake was a Canadian Prime Minister before he entered the British House of Commons as an Irish member; and Sir Gilbert Parker was a member of the Commons when Mr. Blake was a full-blown M.P. there.

New Brunswick gave Mr. Bonar Law, one of the ablest debaters Westminster has known; and among other notable Colonial M.P.'s of recent years are Dr. Rutherford Harris, ex-M.P. for Kingston, in the Cape Parliament; Mr. W. A. McArthur, who was born at Sydney; and Mr. Hunter Greenwood, a Canadian lawyer.

Of the fifteen Colonial members of the last Parliament, it is interesting to note, seven were sons of Canada, four came from Australia, one from the West Indies, and three from South Africa.

High Locomotive Speeds.

The high speeds which are predicted for the Brennan monorail lead naturally to the question of speed with the best that the ordinary street or electric locomotive on double rails can do. It is probable that the monorail will eventually beat the double rail, but its capabilities still remain in the region of prophecy, while the locomotives to which we are accustomed have proved themselves by actual running tests.

As they are by their records, so they are by their construction. The enormous vested interests of 60 miles an hour maintained over fair long stretches of line are common to most good railways; a speed of 70 miles is reached in almost every electric press run and short burst of 80 and 90 miles an hour is frequently on the leading lines of England, says The London Globe.

An experiment made in Germany some years back showed that it was possible to maintain a speed of anything between 80 and 90 miles an hour for long stretches, but in this case the line had to be specially cleared and unusually powerful locomotives have to be employed. The real difficulty in the way of very high speeds is that for long-distance journeys where traffic is great, there must be constant stoppages, and although it is possible to accelerate and decelerate the speed very quickly at each stop—especially with electric traction, as our underground lines show—the discomfort to the passengers of such rapid changes of speed is very great if pushed beyond a certain point.

Spiders as Aeronauts.

Spiders are actually fit, but the young of many species are expert aeronauts. When on some autumn day these little adventurers prepare to start on their journey on some high point of vantage, facing the wind. Then the tip of the tail is raised, and the little epigynum, or ventral shield, which is caught and carried by the breeze. These vary in length with the weight of the spider, and are so constructed as to be able to bear their owners aloft for a considerable distance. The glittering filaments which are thus spun and ultimately settle on the ground and bushes are familiar to us all as "gossamer" and are produced by many species of these most interesting insects. Some spiders again are expert fliers. A beautiful example of this sort has been seen in Sydney, New South Wales. It has a curious flap on either side of its body, which is extended like a kite or parachute. Aided by this, it can readily cover short distances, though we cannot say this method of motion as real flight.

Mr. Flante has decided that a fixed hour for adjournment of the House is a good idea, and he will by formal resolution ask that the House should establish such a time. He proposes that at twelve o'clock, whether a debate or a great big holiday, is a fallacy, as far as most Houses are concerned.

Last session in Quebec, for instance, sessions lasting until two and three o'clock in the morning were common. At the present session of the Quebec Legislature there will be a move to establish something like working day hours into the proceedings of the Lower House. Mr. Arthur Plante, M.P.P. for Beauharnois, is a prime mover in the plan, and early in the session he will introduce the necessary resolution.

In an explanatory way it may be said that the popular idea that a representative's attendance at the Parliament of his country is a great big holiday, is a fallacy, as far as most Houses are concerned.

It Costs $40.00 For Doctor's Visit

On Alberta's Prairies—DR. CHASE'S Medicine and Receipt Book Very Popular Out There.

The luxuries of city life are little known in the prairie homes of Western Canada. When sickness comes people find it necessary to depend on their own resources to a great extent on account of the difficulty and expense of a doctor's visit.

By reading the letter quoted here you will form some idea of how Dr. Chase's Medicine and Receipt Book are appreciated in Canada. This is not only due to the convenience of having these medicines on hand when occasion requires but is also owing to their wonderful reliability.

Where will you find such a restorative treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to enrich the blood, strengthen the nerves and build up the run down system?
Mr. Geo. Clay, Okaville, Alberta, writes: "I have always been a great admirer of Dr. Chase's Medicine and have had his large Receipt Book for over twenty years. His medicines and book have saved me many doctor bills and have proved wonderfully effective. It costs $40.00 for a doctor to come out here so it is rather expensive to get sick."

He recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to a friend of mine for his wife. He studied the symptoms in Dr. Chase's Almanac and found she needed Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to restore her worn out nervous system. I gave him some of this medicine until he could get to town when he got two boxes more and these cured her entirely.

"For myself I used Dr. Chase's Catarrh Powder with splendid results. For some time I was bad with catarrh and could not breathe through my nose. Now I go to bed and never wake all night and breathe all the time through the nose."

Dr. Chase's medicines are for sale by all dealers, or Edmondson Bates & Co., Toronto.

A PRINCE FOR CANADA.

C. Frederick Hamilton Argues For the Affirmative.

"A British nobleman is selected as Governor-General by the Cabinet of the United Kingdom; presumably he is a politician, and the party in power. He assuredly has his whole training up to the moment of his appointment has been as a politician. He suddenly is charged with a monarch's duties; he becomes our local King, minus the affectionate loyalty, which is properly reserved for the King in London. But monarchy is a trade in itself,—from the power of recollecting names and faces which is said to be a royal quality, to that poise of the mind which regards no political parties with undue favour or resentment; it is a life training. It is a trade which is difficult enough with the aid of all the advantages which are denied to our Governor-General. It is one fair to expect our Governor-General to take some months at least to get into the necessary frame of mind to which royalty is trained from infancy. As soon as he has learned his trade, as soon as he has forgotten that he ever was a politician, as soon as he has begun to accumulate the experience which is a monarch's special personal attribute, we wish him off; we erect an unwieldy law forbidding him again to set foot upon our shores; and we send him back to the Parliament of Great Britain, there possibly to be a partisan once more."

"I regard two things as valuable in a working resident Kingship; training, and attitude of mind. It brings, and experience. The logical results of this contention are royalty and permanence. Let us have a royal prince as Governor-General, and let it be a life appointment."

"The Canadians have pretty definitely made up their minds about our national business. We intend to make this North America of ours, at present a One-Power continent, at some time in the future a Two-Power continent. It is unlikely that we can hope to equal the United States in sheer bulk and power, and the strengthening of our position is necessary to search for some counterbalancing advantage. The advantage which lies to our hand is the power which we possess of making ourselves the more interesting citizenship."

We are part of the British Empire; we are part of the British Empire; we are part of the British Empire. We are part of the British Empire; we are part of the British Empire; we are part of the British Empire.

SPRING BLOOD IS BAD BLOOD
How to Get New Health and New Strength in the Spring

Even the most robust find the winter months trying to their health. Confinement indoors in often over-heated and nearly always badly ventilated rooms—in the home, the office, the shops and the school—taxes the vitality of even the strongest. The blood becomes thin and watery, or clogged with impurities. Sometimes you get up in the morning just as if you were a corpse. You have pimples and skin eruptions. There are all spring symptoms that lead to a general feeling of weakness and a rush to purgative medicines in the spring. This is a mistake. You can't cure troubles with a medicine which galls the system and weakens and is sure to leave you weaker still.

What you need to give you health and strength is a medicine of pure science and the one always reliable tonic and blood-builder is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills not only banish spring ills but guard you against the more serious ailments that follow, such as anæmia, nervous debility, indigestion, and all the other diseases due to bad blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood, strengthen your system, and every part of the body. Try this medicine this spring and you will have strength and energy to resist the terror of the coming summer.

Mr. Geo. W. Johnson, Hemford, N. S., says: "I was about three months ago when I came home from a lumbering camp where I had been employed my blood was in such a condition that my whole body broke out in boils—some big and some small. I was treated by my family doctor. I got no better. In fact the sores began to get into my system and at a time were so offensive that I refused to sit at the table with my family. A friend asked me one day why I did not get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to do so. I got six boxes and before they were all gone the sores began to disappear and my system was much strengthened. I continued using the pills until I had taken twelve boxes when every boil and sore had disappeared and I have since enjoyed the very best of health."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail for 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from "The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

WORLD'S GREATEST.

U.S. is Now Growing Jealous of the Canadian Ship Canal.

As this fast world now whirls it seems ages since the projecting genius of Jay Cooke pointed out that the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence river were to be the greatest inter-continental commercial waterway on earth.

Jay Cooke spent his valuable life and handled many fortunes with this idea in view, and the immeasurable material wealth and resources that it and the swelling future promised. But all in vain; his countrymen were too slow. If Cooke had been half backed the United States would long ago have secured a capitalist clutch and claw hold on what will be the continent's future stream of Pactolus-streams, bearing fleets of golden grain. Again, here is a serious military water corridor.

In no sense was there a great commercial imagination like Cooke's behind the Louisiana and Alaskan purchases. We were literally kicked into them. Our own requirements of great intellectual origin were those of the revolutionary fathers getting the United States and the military mind of Gen. George Rogers Clark seizing and holding the Northwestern Territory. At any rate, the Canadians got wise of the dream of Cooke, and are going to have, before we wake up, Cooke's waterway half across the continent, all but to Winnipeg, carrying to Europe the wheat and cattle and minerals of the new great golden northwest.

Sir Robert Perks, M.P., shows there is nothing in a name. He is intimately associated with the project of the great Canadian ship canal, and has decided to come to Canada, the first of this year so that he can give the undivided attention to the enormous work—the great route of undertaking—dwarfing by far the memorable Manchester ship canal. This grand waterway is to be stretched from Georgian Bay, Lake Huron, to the St. Lawrence river, near Montreal, thence to the seaports for ocean going. For 400 miles it will cross the land, like a monster ditch built by Titans, this great canal will wind its way. Imagine a mighty ditch, 24 feet in depth, being dug from New York to Buffalo, and this is but an idea of what the great Twenty-six thousand men will work continuously for 10 years, until one more of the gigantic dreams of Jay Cooke is realized. Sir Robert Perks' pencils cut the cost at the mere matter of $150,000,000.

It should occasion no surprise to realize that there will be more than a million horsepower electrical energy generated at the different gradients of this canal. But this is a trifling incident of this intellectual scheme of Yankee Cooke. The beds of lakes and rivers will be raised, and also rivers will be changed, and their beds and courses changed. Lower areas now dry and will be covered with water. Through this great waterway walls and bottom plain and concrete will stand, and when it is complete great merchant ships will be able to steam through the route and make more money in a month than Panama in a year.—New York Press.

Women Advertising Canada. Women seem to be advertising Canada at the moment most satisfactorily. Agnes Deane Cameron, who has come to the front among our writers, as a journalist and author, lectured Feb. 25 before the Royal Geographical Society in London, in itself a great honor.

Another lady who has been booming Canada in England is Miss Emily Vaughan James, who knows the country well, and is lecturing upon its many advantages to town and country audiences. She lately delivered a lecture in Wales, as well as speaking to a number of English audiences, all of whom were much interested. Before the members of the "United Colonial" circle of the Lyceum Club, she told a great deal that was interesting and rather surprising. She had to boast of the way of art and artists. It was a good list, beginning with Paul Gauguin and coming all the way down (in one sense) to the modern Toronto and Montreal artists. The Canadians present "swelled wisely" with pride, as they heard of the change, something about the cultured side of Canadian life, instead of the charges for emigration and the enormous size of the country. And nobody breathed the word "snow" or "ice-pace."

Surprised Har. A gentleman who had spent the greater portion of his life in Canada relates an amusing experience which befell him.

He had been on a hunting expedition for several days in the backwoods, roughing it rather severely, and on taking a seat in a railway carriage returning homeward he looked as begrimed and weather-beaten a trapper as ever brought his skin into a settlement.

He happened to find a seat next to a young lady, evidently belonging to Boston—who, after taking stock of him for a few minutes, remarked: "Don't you find an utterly passionate sympathy with nature's most incantations among the sky-leaping mountains and the dim aisles of the horizon-touching forests, my good man?"

"Oh, yes," replied the apparent backwoodsman, "and also an frequent drawn into an exaltation of rapt soulfulness and beatific incantations of abstract contiguity when my horse stumbles."

"Indeed!" said the young lady, much surprised, "I had no idea the lower classes felt like that." "Ti-Bits."

Kinrade Murder a Year Ago. Just about a year ago Ethel Kinrade met her death in her home at Berkeley street, Hamilton, under conditions which marked the tragedy as the most mysterious in Canadian criminal annals.

The adage, "murder will out," seems to have been disproved in this particular case, practically all hope of an ultimate solution having been abandoned by the provincial authorities after an expenditure of $10,000.

EDITORIAL NOTESThe Frank Strike

Another unfortunate strike has been added to the annals of the coal history of the Crow's Nest Pass. To Frank the cessation of work cannot but mean great loss of business and property security. To the miners it means a deprivation of the luxuries of life and later on the necessities of life. To the coal Company which has been struggling for years to get back to the position before the slide, it means a financial and constructive set-back.

The Miner unlike the Fernie Ledger does not glory in the "chip on the shoulder attitude" but always seeks as far as is in its power to effect a settlement of the grievances and to frown down on all strikes except when they are absolutely necessary.

That the present strike is another instance of the unthinking and impassioned coterie that seems to have pervaded union, is now plainly apparent. All of the questions can be submitted to arbitration whilst the men remain at work. The Lemieux Act especially provides for this contingency. If the Coal Company has erred in forcing a lock-out, which is evidently not the case, it can be heavily fined. On the other hand the miners in combination have no right whatever to take the law in their own hands and remain from work without incurring the penalty of the law.

If the closed shop has been in operation in the mine at Frank it should remain. But the contract in regard to open shop of the shift should be respected. The reduction of five cents in the pillars should and will eventually be arbitrated. A close study of the prevailing conditions in the other mines, the extent of the difficult work and the payment in proportion of the narrow work between the pillars would have to be taken into consideration. No arbitration board would dare to deprive a miner of his wages in a precarious and difficult work, but would bear in mind the prevailing conditions and the ratio of payment in other mines. Arbitration must come and it could be arranged in a few days.

A movement is on foot to greatly improve Flumerfelt Park and so make it a most fitting place for recreation and athletic games. The names of the gentlemen on the different committees easily suggest that much work will be done in the way of improvements.

The Miner has been besieged this week with enquiries regarding incorporation. The Miner was also shown a letter in which was stated that no trace of the registering of Slav town could be found in the registry office at Calgary. The editor of this family journal never expected that any such registration would be found, and suggests, as a heavy taxpayer, Coleman be incorporated alone and as quick as the flyer goes through Coleman. The sin of omission in this matter is on the heads of the citizens in general and another meeting should be held at once. We guarantee that it will be a breezy one.

FOSTER APPEALS

IN LIBEL SUIT

Toronto, April 7.—Acting for Hon. Geo. E. Foster, M. P., Hellmuth, Obatah and Kassabaum have deposited $200,000 security for the costs in his appeal to the Court of Appeal from the decision of Mr. Justice Macne, dismissing his action against J. A. MacDonald, editor of the Globe, to recover damages for alleged slander.

Ottawa, April 4.—Hon. Geo. E. Foster in a statement yesterday declared he had not any intention of retiring from politics and it is believed that Leader Borden will have some difficulty in carrying out his house cleaning plans.

The King Is Reported Well

Biarri x, April 7.—Sir James Reid, Physician-in-ordinary to King Edward who accompanied His Majesty professionally to this place, said yesterday:

"The King has not had influenza, therefore, he is not suffering from it's after effects. He is living his usual life here. The weather continues to be stormy, even winterish but the alarmist stories about his condition are absurd."

ROOSEVELT MEETS ITALIAN KING

Rome, April 7.—King Victor Eui, monarch received Mr. Roosevelt at the Quirinal to-day. The hour of his reception being known a considerable number of persons gathered to greet him on his way from the hotel to the Royal Palace.

King Victor wore the uniform of a general of the Italian army.

His words of welcome spoken in excellent English were most cordial. His Majesty and Mr. Roosevelt shook hands heartily. The monarch invited Mr. Roosevelt to sit beside him.

The detour of the King's apartment was then closed and the two remained in private conversation for about three quarters of an hour. Expressions of friendship on behalf of their respective countries were exchanged.

Following the audience Mr. Roosevelt said that the king had been so gracious and flattering both to him personally, and to his country that he felt that he should not make public anything concerning their conversation. The formalities of the reception concluded, King Victor personally conducted Mr. Roosevelt to the hall of the Palace where the American inspected the hunting trophies of the King's father and grandfather.

From the Quirinal, Mr. Roosevelt drove to the Pantheon and placed a wreath upon the tombs of Victor Emmanuel II and King Humbert. A pleasing incident at the Pantheon was a chance meeting between Mr. Roosevelt and the Queen Dowager Margherita who detained the ex-President in conversation for some moments.

The Late Colin Genge

The death of Colin Genge, M. P. of Macdonald is very sad, and the sympathy of all people will go out to the bereaved family and to the constituency that has lost its representative in the legislature. Mr. Genge was comparatively speaking, a young man and such an early closing of his active life was not to be expected. He had been for years received in the affairs of his town and district and a year ago received additional honor in being elected as their representative in the legislature after one of the stiffest fights in the whole campaign supporters and opponents will regret the closing of his political career even before he had been privileged to enter fully upon it. In his eagerness to play his part in the legislative affairs of the province.

Queerly Situated

A. Good, who is at the Empire Hotel in Spokane, lays claim to the most unique house in the world. He is proprietor of a hotel at Crow's Nest, B. C. on the Summit of the Rocky Mountains. When it rains the water falling on the east roof flows to the Atlantic Ocean, while that on the west roof goes to the Pacific Ocean. Mr. Good also boasts of the best Zoo and exhibits in British Columbia. Surrounding his hotel in enclosed space he has specimens of practically all the wild animal life of Canada, as well as animal life from all over the world. A gas tank and the seal cement together in a water tank, while the polar bear playfully makes friends with monkeys. Seattle Hotel News.

Edson Centre

EDSON is the first Grand Trunk Divisional point west of Edmonton.

EDSON is the only Grand Trunk Pacific Divisional Point between Edmonton and the Rocky Mountains.

EDSON is 126 miles from Edson, is surrounded by a beautiful country conceded to be one of the best farming districts in the west. Some thirty miles south are very extensive coal fields and a railroad will be constructed to these just as soon as steel is laid to Edson next spring. The line to the rich Peace River district will be started north from Edson. Edson is a short distance from the mountains and is situated in a similar position to Calgary. The Canadian National Park and a large sanitarium will be built at the mountain entrance.

Every transcontinental railway has a large city at its entrance to the mountains, such as Denver in the United States and Calgary in Canada. Lots in Edson will be worth thousands in the course of a few years for this reason alone. The last divisional point before the railroad strikes the Rockies.

EDSON is the natural entrance to the famous Peace River country as well as to the rich oil fields to the south.

EDSON CENTRE adjoins the Grand Trunk Pacific property to the west and just in line with the growth of the town.

What will these lots be worth when the Grand Trunk Pacific complete their round houses, machine shops, and Edson becomes the busiest industrial centre of the west?

Lots $50 and $60 per month, $10 cash and $5 per month

THOUSANDS HAVE WEAK LUNGS AND DON'T KNOW IT

Editor Used a Well Known Tonic and System Builder

The Editor and Manager of the Burk's Falls "Arrow," is only human. This being the case, it is not surprising that he should feel and suffer as other men. Mr. Alex. Fewell says: "I had a very severe attack of La Grippe which left me very weak, spiritless and run down. I seemed to have lost all ambition. At this point I realized that my condition was likely to become more serious unless I took myself in hand. One day while in this 'Half dead and alive condition' I was listlessly looking over recent files of my paper, The Burk's Falls Arrow," (which I am Editor and Manager), when my eye rested on an advertisement of PSYCHINE. This clearly and explicitly set forth a case so exactly resembling my own that I at once purchased a bottle at the Medical Hall. After taking two or three doses I felt like a new man, and before half the second bottle was used, every trace of the bad effects of La Grippe had left me. "PSYCHINE is a marvel and I have strongly recommended it to some of my friends similarly afflicted and they have used it with equally beneficial results."

Misplaced Blame

A young couple of Liberty were walking past a drygoods store when the wife stopped to admire some of the dresses. After a moment she returned to where she had left her husband, and grasping an arm, complained: "You never want to stop and look at anything that interests me. You don't care for me any more. You haven't kissed me for three weeks."

"It's not my fault, but my misfortune," replied the man solitely. It was not her husband.—Kansas City Star.

THE LUSCIOUS MALPEQUE.

Now the Famous Bivalve is Secured in Prince Edward Island.

Richmond Bay, as you view it from the northern shore of Prince Edward Island, is a big island of blue water, with a broken diameter of islands which, besides adding a needless touch of beauty to the scene, serve to make the waters of the bay more inviting. The grounds in eastern Canada, says L. J. Miller in a recent article in the Toronto Globe. To be sure, a map of the Island will at once show that the bay is not rounded (the sprawled smooch of the biological text-book would better describe it), that the sharply-defined islands to be seen from the shore are not the ones that play cat and mouse in the grounds and anchored for teeming spots, but this is only the testimony of unimaginative maps—a half-circle, a broken diameter of green, and you have the home of the Malpeque oyster, one of the best of the world's produce.

You may satisfy your head as to the truth of the latter with the knowledge that Prince Edward Island oysters look highest award at the Exhibition Universelle in 1904, where they were highest in competition with the best products of Europe and America. In fact, all is not an affair of the head. On a fine November afternoon you must drive down to the shore of the bay and see some brownish oysters, and a fisherman open with his jackknife one of the muddled pairs of fast-grip shells which he has just brought in, cold and sweet, with the clean salt of the sea. Then, and not till then, will you fully realize it. You will also find in a position to say the last gastronomic word on oysters.

You will be repaid, too, in other fashion, for oyster-fishing, as compared with the oyster business, is essentially picturesque. The fishermen keep to primitive methods, which experience has shown to be least destructive to oysters and least, and their simple, old-fashioned picture of a pulling tug dragging a net and bag over their grounds and turning up oyster shells and bed bones. And so the scene is quiet; a few rude houses huddle together on the broken, red banks; a few sailboats, and a wheel and a light and run along over the hard, red sand; gulls glide lazily through the air. Only the whistle of a motor or the cry of a gull breaks the stillness of the shore. It is with surprise that you awake to the fact that between you and the diamonds in the distance the humors of omen are silently at work.

Later, when you are in the midst of lunch, you may wonder at the silence. The very nature of the landscape demands it, for it is the harvest of hard work this—no autumn waiving of oyster and oyster, but a patient, hand-chilling, back-breaking task of groping with heavy, long-armed tongs for the shells below and lifting them up to the boat. It is a lesson in patient industry, and a lesson in the art of the oyster. The water is always icy cold, and may be anywhere from one to three fathoms deep. Curious Island, where the oyster oysters are found, it often runs to four or five and a half fathoms. On the bottom, the shells are attached to the hard mud to one another, or to anything that is solid enough to hold their grip. An old hand can quickly tell when he senses a good sized oyster. He goes wide the jaws of his tongs, he reaches well over, pushes the iron teeth firmly down into the bed, brings the oyster together, and lifts up. Lost by foot, the heavy load of muddy sand and oysters.

"How would you like to keep at this all day?" asked a grizzled old chump, as he balanced the long pole on the seaward, and knocked sand and mud into the water. "I don't know," said the other, "but I tell you, it's a cold work when the water freezes on your tongs, and the wind blows through you."

That is the other side of it. It is undoubtedly picturesque on a fine, sunny day, the two or three hundred boats, mackerel pretty sight in the blue, particularly when at evening time all the boats sail and make in, but, I tell you, it's a cold work when the water freezes on your tongs and the wind blows through you."

Skyscrapers For Montreal.

Three ten-story buildings will be erected during the coming summer on St. J. street, Montreal, close to the postoffice.

The old seminary property, which has been leased for a period of 50 years by the Grand Trunk Pacific, will be occupied by a ten-story structure. On the opposite corner, the Old St. Lawrence Hall landmark will be replaced by a ten-story building to be used by the Canadian Pacific for downtown offices, while the third skyscraper will be built on the same street—directly opposite the St. Lawrence Hall by the Yorkville Insurance Co. The cost of the two railway buildings will be half a million dollars each, while the insurance structure will cost about a quarter of a million.

One on Sir Henry.
A good joke on Sir Henry Pellatt is being told in military circles. On New Year's morning it is the custom of the officers to visit the various sergeants' messes, and this year when Sir Henry and some of the officers of the Queen's Own Rifles visited the sergeants' mess of the Mississauga Horse one of the party entering their messes in the morning registered as "Col. Sir H. Pellatt, A.D.C." The Mississauga Horse sergeants had a boy watching the registration who announced each officer as he entered the reception room. When it came Sir Henry's turn the boy called out much to the amusement of all present: "Colonel Sir H. Pellatt of the A.D.C.'s." Needless to say Sir Henry appreciated the joke as much as any one.

Mme. Thebes, the French seers, declared that the world is to have a bad time in 1910. The home folks will not be ready to admit that she is a true prophet of evil, for the disastrous floods in France made the opening of the year memorable.

Wily Tailfeather.
Louis XVIII., complimenting Tailfeather one day upon his abilities, asked him how he had contrived first to overturn the directory and finally Bonaparte.

The wily diplomat replied, with charming simplicity: "Really, sire, I have had nothing to do with this. There is something inexplicable about me which brings ill-luck on the governments that neglect me."

Breathing of Insects.
Insects generally breathe through special pores in various parts of their bodies, and if these pores are closed by oil they are suffocated. Any one may test this by dropping sweet oil on the thorax or back of a wasp. If very soon died. For the reason of this, we have found one of the best things to use for the destruction of insects.

CURE WAS QUICK AND COMPLETE

DAME PARENT'S HEART DISEASE CURED BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

She Suffered for Two Years but Now Advises All Troubled as She Was to Give Dodd's Kidney Pills a Trial.

St. Robert, Richelieu Co., Que. (Special).—"I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all my friends." These are the words of Dame Joseph Parent of this place. And the good cause she does so for is that she has cured her heart disease.

"For two years," she says, "I suffered from Heart Disease, Headache, Backache and a dragging sensation across the loins. Seven boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me. I know all who are troubled as I was, will give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. Some people may ask how Dodd's Kidney Pills, which are purely a Kidney remedy, can cure Heart Disease. And the answer is simple. Diseased Kidneys fail to drain the impurities out of the blood. If these impurities are left in the blood they not only increase the work of the heart in propelling the blood through the body, but act on the valves causing disease. Pure blood removes the cause of the disease. Dodd's Kidney Pills make pure blood by curing the Kidneys in condition to strain all the impurities out of it."

"Full-Empty"
R. C. Smith, R.C. is responsible for the following story:
A bailiff went out to levy a seizure on the contents of a house. The inventory book with the chattels in it, the attic, downward to the cellar. When the dining room was reached the tale of the furniture was as follows:
"One dining room table, oak."
"One set chairs, 6, oak."
"One sideboard, oak."
"Two bottles whisky, full."
Then the word "full" was struck out and replaced by the word "empty," and the inventory went on in a hand that struggled and launched diagonally across the page until it closed with:
"One revolving door mat."

Mr. Samuel Martin, of Strathroy, Ont., passed twenty years of his life in misery, suffering tortures from lame back. He tried nearly all advertised remedies and household remedies, but received no benefit from any of them. Some months ago seeing Gin Pills advertised, Mr. Martin purchased a box. The relief which Mr. Martin experienced after he had taken one box was so great that he knew he had found the right remedy at last. He used two more boxes and is now completely cured.

A MODERN MEDICINE FOR YOUNG CHILDREN

No sane mother would wish herself treated under the conditions of medicine or surgery of half a century ago. Why then should she give her tender little child the old-fashioned medicines that have not changed in half a century, and which more likely than not contain potent poisons that will not cure the child, but merely drag it into temporary insensibility. San's Own Tablets is a modern medicine prepared with all the care and skill of modern medical science. This medicine cures all stomach, bowel, teething and other ailments of childhood and babyhood. And the mother has the guarantee of a government and that it contains no opiate or poisonous drug. MY FREE TRIAL TREATMENT MAY CURE YOU

Dear Mrs. Currah—I feel so very much better after using the 10 day treatment of ORANGE LILLY you were kind enough to send, that I will not require any more. In fact, I feel entirely well, and it is now a month since I stopped taking the treatment. (Miss F. W. T.)

Similar letters to the above are not infrequent, though, of course, such cases are not of long standing. Most women who have suffered for any length of time will require to use ORANGE LILLY longer than the Trial Treatment in order to effect complete cure, but in every case they will be perceptibly benefited. Further, the benefit will be permanent, whether they continue to use ORANGE LILLY or not. It is not taken internally, and does not contain any alcohol or other stimulant. It is an applied treatment, and acts directly on the suffering organs. In all cases of women's disorders, these organs are congested to a greater or less extent, and ORANGE LILLY will relieve and remove this congestion just as positively and certainly as the action of ammonia or soap on solid matter. It is a simple chemical problem, and the result is always the same. Keep towards better health and complete cure.

In order that every suffering woman may prove its good qualities, I will send enough of ORANGE LILLY for 10 days treatment, absolutely free, to each lady who will send me her address. MRS. FRANCES E. CURRAN, WINNICO, ONT.

REDUCING THE WAIST

Massage Downward with the chest high

FOR women who have not abstained from foods that are apt to produce flesh there are some exercises which will reduce the waist—that some where flesh seems to delight to settle, much to the fair one's chagrin and discomfort. Waists are now longer than in the last season, and although many women will rely upon corsets to produce the approved line, I advise a safer and more lasting method. At morning after rising, or at evening before retiring, there are some gymnastics of the body which will effectively reduce superfluous flesh, and I can promise quick results if conscientiously persisted in by you.

Place the hands on the sides of the body under the arms and smooth the flesh downward in firm, strong strokes, going over the hip line. If the hips are large, move the fingers from front to back, pushing the flesh away.

Now, the next exercise comes from Japan. It is the pinching and nipping massage of that country, and is persistently given is wonderful. With both hands pinch the flesh at the waist line, between thumb and fingers. The vigorous treatment will first soften the flesh, and gradually it will disappear.

With the hands at the back, thumbs touching and fingers front, bend the body forward. Repeat slowly, keeping the eyes front, which means a raised head. Do not neglect this movement, which seems to produce a disposition of the flesh that is more normal.

This exercise is balanced by a backward movement of the upper body. Take this slowly and do not bend too far at first. The muscles must be exercised and not strained. You will find that each time is less difficult. This reduces the abdominal muscles, which are often given an unattractive thickness.

Now use your knees. Kneel and lower each knee. Draw up the right and then the left. The balance can be kept more perfectly if the hands are used to hold the hips. Repeat this until a general flexibility of the muscles is felt. The line at the side is lengthened by this "prancing" motion, and muscles become harder, while fat disappears.

To women who are willing to devote fifteen minutes each day to these exercises there will be great benefit. There will be a decided improvement in the figure, due to a harmonious and easily followed out series of movements.

ADVICE ON SOCIAL CUSTOMS

WHEN LEAVING CARDS.

TODAY card etiquette is so simplified and systematized that any woman can follow it without danger of serious blunders. When once the fundamental principles of this are mastered, the occasional changes may be made by those who wish to keep in touch with these things. A card is never taken into a drawing room and presented to the hostess. It is left by the caller on a tray in the hall as she passes. If your call is made on the first "day at home" of the season, you will place in the tray one card of your own and, if married, two of your husband's. After that, during the season, you need not leave any cards if calls are made on at-home days. If any special entertainment is given by your hostess to which your husband is invited, two of his cards must be left when making the return call. This rule obliges if the hostess be a married woman.

If a woman is hostess at a formal affair and is assisted by her unmarried daughters, there are no cards left for them, even though they have made their bow to society. If an unmarried woman is the hostess, then cards are as carefully left as if she were a man.

If you are unmarried and are using a separate calling card, it is sufficient to put a card into the tray for your hostess and one for the friend that is receiving with her. This is done when the call is the first of the season, or when you are acknowledging any hospitality by calling after a season of absence. A young woman need not leave cards at the "day at home" of a friend's season. Remember that no woman leaves her card for any man but her husband. If a visitor in a home be called upon, always recognize the hostess, leave two cards one for her and one for your friend. Now, suppose that you are visiting friends and accompany them on a little round of paying calls. If you are not contemplating a visit of any length and do not know the persons upon whom the call is made, your card is not left if they are not at home. If you intend to stay two weeks or more, and if the persons called upon present themselves, one card should be left in the hall.

If a special arrangement has been made to call and thus introduce the stranger, then cards are left as at any other first call.

When a formal morning call is made by a woman upon another woman for a little business of a charitable nature, only one card is sent up by the caller. If the mistress be out, this and a short explanation of the purpose of the business are given to the servant.

If you are a business woman and are paying a business call upon another woman, it is always best to inscribe upon your card a hint of the nature of your call. In no case should you send a card to a man. The servant should be given your name and a statement of your business. If you prefer, you may write both upon a slip of paper. I hope that women who have been a little worried about their visiting cards will profit by this talk. A knowledge of this very formal institution is just one mark of attention to the details of social life. Master these facts and there need be no halting and blundering at functions where cards should be left.

SOLUTIONS TO SOCIAL PROBLEMS

Invitation to Dance.

DEAR Mrs. Adams: I am a young lady who is being introduced to a lady at a dance. It is in my power to ask her to dance, or if so, in what manner? It is in my power to ask her to dance, or if so, in what manner?

It is quite proper for a man, immediately on introduction to a woman, to ask her for a dance. It is not the next dance. "May I put my name down for a dance with Miss Brown?" you see, you are not interested for No. 3. May I have it? These are simple and conventional ways for a man to request a dance.

An Unexpected Caller

DEAR Mrs. Adams: It is proper for a girl to invite a young man to call on her, if he does not live in the city, home and stop at the hotel. The young man should call on her, and if he does not, she should call on him. The mother should not ask for his name, but should ask for his name.

The young girl could not do with propriety invite the young man to call upon her, but would be perfectly proper, however, for her parents to ask him to call, if he is a friend of the family, he may be invited to a meal. The mother should not ask for his name, but should ask for his name.

A Persistent Boy

DEAR Mrs. Adams: I want to know how to deal with a boy who persists in asking me to dance, and who has refused him because you don't like him. It is in my power to ask her to dance, or if so, in what manner?

What to Say

DEAR Mrs. Adams: What should a young man say when he is introduced to a girl? What should he say? A young lady, unless she is playing the part of a hostess, never speaks in words any pleasure when a gentleman is presented to her; but a man on being presented to a lady should make some pleasant remark, such as, "I am very happy to meet you, Miss White," or, "It is a great pleasure to know you, Miss White."

Accepting a Challenge

DEAR Mrs. Adams: In your issue, a young lady has caused to be angry, and should demand an apology for such boldness on the part of the young lady. The young lady had caused for becoming angry, and should demand an apology for such boldness on the part of the young lady.

Attired in a Kimono

It is in my power to ask her to dance, or if so, in what manner? I am a young lady who is being introduced to a lady at a dance. It is in my power to ask her to dance, or if so, in what manner?

1. To wear a kimono when entertaining your friend would be most improper. 2. Low-necked gowns should be reserved for balls, dinners and other formal occasions. 3. I am a young lady who is being introduced to a lady at a dance. It is in my power to ask her to dance, or if so, in what manner?

The Knee should be raised and lowered girl's name is always spoken first. The simplest method is always the best. "Miss Brown, let me present Mr. Jones." is a form which would be correct on almost any occasion. If the girl is sufficiently strong to receive the boys in her sitting room it would be perfectly proper to have them call. It is very sweet and kind of the boys to send fruit and flowers, and there is no objection to their thoughtfulness.

A Woman Gives First Sign of Recognition

DEAR Mrs. Adams: I am a telephone operator in a small town and am daily engaged in conversation with many gentlemen. I am a young lady who is being introduced to a lady at a dance. It is in my power to ask her to dance, or if so, in what manner? I am a young lady who is being introduced to a lady at a dance. It is in my power to ask her to dance, or if so, in what manner?

First of all, let us say that it is a woman's privilege to bow first when meeting men acquaintances. You have no right to recognise the man to whom you have never been introduced, and it is presumption on their part to expect that you will.

A Shipwrecked Doll

ON A beautiful May morning, seventy years ago, a tiny, dark-haired girl first opened her brown eyes. "Oh, baby, how delighted father will be!" were the first words her mother spoke when she beheld her little daughter. "You have his eyes and his hair and his loving smile."

The captain's baby grew as the months passed. Every morning when her mother came to dress her she would say, "Perhaps your father's ship will come today." When the day passed and no ship sailed in, the mother, as she sang baby to sleep, would say hopefully, "Tomorrow may see the day when father first calls on his little daughter."

One day in November came one of the worst storms that ever visited the New England coast. For three days and nights the northeast wind blew a terrific gale. Blinding snow, sleet and hail fell during most of the time, and it was so cold that everything froze as soon as it struck the vessels.

"A LADDER BEAUTIFUL DOLL"

On the fourth morning the clouds broke and the sun shone out clear and bright. For miles the shore was covered with wreckage, broken timbers, spars and portions of the cargoes of vessels.

Among the things the fishermen found a great sea chest, and on one were the initials of the baby's father. When they opened it, there, at the very top, lay a beautiful doll, almost as large as baby herself. Even though she was dressed with sea water her rosy face smiled at the baby when she was lifted out and put into her arms. Pinned to the front of her dress they found a slip of paper on which they could with difficulty read the words: "For my daughter."

They thought that the captain, when he knew that his ship would probably go to pieces, had hastily written the message, pinned it to the doll and laid her to him in the water, hoping that she might reach his little daughter.

And so, you see, it was, after all, the mother's wish who spoke her name. Though it was borne to her in no strange manner, she had the knowledge to hear that dolly speak, to tell them from what far country would probably go to pieces, had hastily written the message, pinned it to the doll and laid her to him in the water, hoping that she might reach his little daughter.

But stranger of all was the way in which the captain learned that his little one was a girl and not a boy. No mother's love had so carefully fastened her quaint garments, her ruffled pantaloons, her homespun petticoat, her real, dark gown, her snowy pinnies and her
